Scientists To Use Dry Ice In Try To Control Hurricane

Bureau is planning to use dry ice pattern of energy which moves the gins who died at 11 a. m. Tuesday seeding next year in an effort to storm and cause it to veer.

The experimental idea was outlined to the Washington Meteorological Society last night by Robert Simpson, who heads a new, special study group set up to learn more about how hurricanes develop and move.

If it works, the experiment could steer the hurricane away from a populated area, or perhaps keep it entirely away from land. Simpson said the study group

WASHINGTON (A)-In the 1956 presidential election year there probably will be some heated talk, as in the past, on the wisdom of a nationwide presidential primary to give voters a direct hand in picking candidates.

The result will be what it was in the past: nothing.

Some political scientists think voters - after being exposed a few more times through television to the selection of presidential candidates at the big parties' conventions-will want a new system, giving them a direct voice.

Right now the individual voter's part in picking presidential candidates, and then voting on them in a general election later, is a very limited business.

Only 19 states, the District of Columbia and Alaska in 1956 will have presidential primaries. No two are exactly the same.

Some provide for election of delegates pledged to one candidate. In others delegates may be pledgd or not. Still others provide for presidential preference or popularity contests where the people vote directly on presidential preferencs as will as for delegate candidates. But the final choice of party

CITY WITHOUT NEWSPAPERS

PROBABLY few Detroiters gave much thought to how important their newspapers were in their daily life until Dec. 1. Since then, however, the 3 million people in the. Detroit area have thought a lot about it and have had much to say.

It was then that a strike of stereotypers shut down the three major dailies - the Free Press, News and Times. In the period since, a news-starved city has had to rely on only secondary sources - radio, television, a Polish language newspaper (expanded to include English language general news coverage), a propaganda daily published by the Detroit Newspaper Guild, "The Reporter."

These secondary sources have helped ease the situation, but still Detroit has largely been living in a world apart - one he meant traditionalists. divorced from the happenings in the rest of the world.

More Persons Killed Dec. 24 Than Any Day

Business Plans Steps To Help Curb Carnage On Nation's Highways

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (A) - Just ahead lies the day when more Americans than in any other 24-hour period will check in their identities and become a statistic.

Business knows it gets smeared with some of the blame, Many firms and some whole industries are striving to curb the carnage. The National Safety Council says that more persons are killed in traffic accidents on Dec. 24 than any other day. Office Christmas parties often have preceded accidents - so. many companies this week are striving to tone them down. The liquor industry has long known it is accused of providing the cause for many traffic accidents - and is increasing its appeals for temperance before getting behind the driving wheel.

The auto industry knows that the very number of cars it sells means crowded holiday highways-and in its new models is stressing safety devices to cut down the number of fatalities.

The Fraternal Order of Police, with 40,000 member officers across the nation, is urging upon weary shoppers as well as upon party goers this slogan: "For holiday safety, if you take 'one for the road', make it coffee."

The National Licensed Beverage Assn., with a membership of 50,000 tavern owners and operators, and the National Retail Liquor Package Stores Assn., with 30,000 retail liquor stores as members, have poined with Seagrams-Distillers in placing ads in 76 newspapers with an estimated 161/4 million readers, urging that coffee be the for-theroad drink.

Education, Scioto Township Local School District, R. F. D. No. 2, Ashville, Ohio, until 12:00 Noon on January 18, 1956, for the purchase of bonds of said School District in the aggregate amount of $150,000.00, dated December 1, 1955, and bearing interest not to exceed four percent per annum, payable semi-annually on June 1 and December 1, the first interest being payable on the 1st day of June, 1956, and issued for the purpose of constructing a fireproof addition to fireproof school building, and furnishing and equipping same. Said bonds are issued pursuant to authority of the electors, and under authority of the laws of Ohio, particularly Sections 133.01 to 133.48 of the Ohio Revised Code, and under and in accordance with Resolution of the Board of Education passed December 5, 1955.

Said Bonds are of the denomination of $1,000.00 each, numbered from 1 to 150, both inclusive, and mature as follows: $6,000.00 on the 1st day of December in each of the odd numbered years 1957 to 1977, both inclusive, and $7,000.00 on the first day of December in each of the even numbered years

October was a costly month toe in the state for traffic accidents, according to a report released by the Ohio Department of Highway Safety today. The highest toll in deaths, injuries and destruction for any one month so far in 1955 was exacted in October, the complete tenmonth tabulation of Ohio traffic ecident experience revealed.

From the report, regularly comdivision, came the statement that this year's 224 October traffic fatalities constituted a 20 percent increase over the 186 deaths in the same month last year. Also included was a prediction that if this upward trend continues, the 1955 traffic death toll may be the highest for any year in the past decade.

More October statistics, all clearly the highest totals for any of the first ten months this year,
